

Trends and Patterns of Violence Against Women in Bangladesh

Ajita Mitra

Received: 9 December 2015 Accepted: 5 January 2016 Published: 15 January 2016

Abstract

Women throughout the world face different forms of violence in their day to day life from domestic sphere to public sphere ranging from psychological abuse to physical torture and even death. Domestic violence is the most common form of VAW in Bangladesh, the recent trend of which shows that battering type violence followed a slacken slope while dowry related violence is on increase yet, pushed by psychological violence. In public sphere, though Acid, and Fatwa and Illegal Arbitration related violence are on decrease, sexual violence and harassment are on increase, kindling by trafficking and negative use of various media. The most heinous situation is on commute to work and workplace where women workers often become the victim of differential violence including rape with no record. The paper recommends accurate maintenance of violence data with awareness program and proper implementation of existed laws for the emancipation of women.

Index terms— violence against women; rape; dowry; fatwa.

1 Introduction

Violence against Women is a common phenomenon throughout the world though the nature and extensity vary from country to country, the worst atrocity of which may be followed in developing to least developed countries with least recognized as infringement of human rights. Violence knows no boundaries of geography, wealth or culture and as long as it continues, no nation can claim to be making real progress towards development, equality and peace in the world (Annan, 1999 cited from Khatun and Rahman, 2012). WHO found that 35 percent of women worldwide have experienced either intimate partner violence or non-partner sexual violence whereas, 38 percent of murders of women are committed by an intimate partner (Begum, 2014). VAW in Bangladesh is not new, got its supremacy at the very end of the 20th century but harmful and discriminatory practices against women are dominant yet that rooted in traditional patriarchal social norms. Unfortunately, despite magnificent history of women's freedom commotion and noticeable achievements in women's development filed, incidences of violence against women are still burning issues (Hossain, 2016), especially in Bangladesh. Considering VAW, the government of Bangladesh has enacted various laws, legislations, and policies; sanctioned numerous conventions, guaranteed constitutional rights; numerous NGOs are working to safeguard women rights and empowerment; yet the trend, in some cases, is on increase. Even perpetrators often go unpunished by legal jurisdiction as victim not seek legal remedies to become superfluous stigmatized by the society. BNWLA reported that victim dares not file complaints fearing negligence and harassment in police station, courts, and society while the members of the police, in most cases, look down upon the oppressed women and will not to take their complaints unless they are pushed from a higher authority (Basu & Jaising, 2005).

2 II.

3 Methodology

Hundreds of studies have been carried out marking VAW in Bangladesh since independence but poor concentration was put to analyze its long-term trends, almost left this segment to the dark. Hence the overall objective of this study is to critically review and sketch the trend of VAW in Bangladesh with suggestive measures. Basically 2001 to 2015 VAW recorded data, especially from documentations unit, annual reports, and human rights reports of numerous NGOs working with women have been collected and analyzed in three phases 2001 to 2005, 2006 to 2010, and 2011 to 2015) through statistical methods, and finally presented in report using Microsoft Excel to look into the trend of VAW and in depicting real pictures. Comprehensive literatures on VAW in Bangladesh were also reviewed from various published sources. Additionally, 10 Indepth Interviews (IDI) were carried out on employed women, excluding administrative professionals as they are less susceptible to violence in workplace and commute to work, and placed as primary data to this research.

6 VII. POLICY RECOMMENDATIONS

III.

4 Findings

Violence in family sphere was not considered as problematic issue till 1960s due to cultural norms but the second wave of feminist's movement in United State after 1970s provided major contribution in this direction (Kelmendi, 2013). On the contrary, woman's lower socioeconomic background made their position less authoritative in comparison to their male counterparts and that is why many new jobs have been created and the access of women increased in the apparel industries of Bangladesh since 1980s (Al-Amin & Hoque, 2015). The access of women in job market boosted at the very end of 20th century followed by differential violence in commute to work and workplace. Hence the trend of Rape by Law Enforcement Agencies: Rape by law enforcement agencies is surprisingly uprising in Bangladesh who being the safeguard to women. Figure ?? shows that the statistics unit of Additionally unreported violence, as victims testament not to report, in public sphere include eve-teasing, harassment through social and electronic media, and trafficking for forced labor and prostitution outnumber the incidents of previous years.

5 V. Violence in Commute to Work

Violence in Commute to Work: Women's access into the employment market has made them more susceptible to various forms of violence as they went outside of home (Basu, & Jaising, 2005). Workers face harassment in commute to work regardless of their age. "During the day, offensive and suggestive comments and whistling from pedestrian, rickshaw pullers, storeowners as well as personnel and passengers on public busses are widespread" (Siddiqi, 2003, P-41). Data shows that the conductor and driver of public buses behaved roughly to 70 percent of women garment workers who used public bus (Paul-Majumdar and Begum, 2000). On the contrary, bus passengers-especially older males-also squeeze, shove, pinch, and made suggestive comments (Siddique, 2003).

One respondent narrated, "Boys are like dogs and they may bow-bow behind me like where is your house, what's about your family, very rare cases what's your rate or how much will you go for! But it's not my duty to protest rather it is better walking droop along the route" while another respondent stated, "Incidents like usage slang, pinch, and whistling are normal. Stalkers may do whatever they like but it is not wise to protest".

Violence in Workplace: Workers in workplace accused linemen, supervisors, production managers, and line chiefs for various forms of physical abuse-slapping, pulling hair, hitting on the head, touching the body, stroking, and even kissing; where, non-verbal forms of harassment include staring, winking, whistling standing very close and pinching (Siddique, 2003). Women are more prone to violence in night shifts as supervisors may call them to a desolate area demanding talk them about work related mistakes (Chowdhuri, 2007) future" where another woman described in the same ground, "Often bosses use slang in cases of mistakes and they cannot teach us without using slang. They also threaten us to terminate our jobs in cases of mistakes".

Nor organizations maintain a full-fledge report on workplace and commute violence, neither these incidents come out in public except rare cases. These incidents are tremendously rampant in our country day after day. (Rozario, 2001). Odhikar, a leading human rights NGO of Bangladesh, documented 5151 dowry related violence on its documentation unit since 2001 to 2016. Though dowry in domestic sphere was traced out since many years before, resulted the enactment of dowry prohibition law in 1980, it is found out of control yet.

Figure 6 shows that in last five years, dowry related incidents increased more than 14 percent in average in comparison to the incidents of previous 10 years.

In describing Dowry demand, one of the respondents stated, "I had to give dowry to my husband in time of marriage. What I should say, I am asked yet to give more to him very often, even by his parents too. There is no end of their demands". Additionally women also face some other forms of violence in domestic sphere including child marriage, sexual harassment, and non-participation in decision making including pregnancy, abortion, and sterilization. On the contrary, in educated and wealthy family, psychological violence get new shapes including humiliation, dominance, threats, verbal abuse, denial and blame etcetera but all these forms of violence go unreported.

6 VII. Policy Recommendations

Firstly, accurate and systematic record on the incidents of VAW should be maintained by both governmental (police, Ministry of Women and Children Affairs, Women and Children Repression and Prevention Special Tribunal, Department of Women Affairs, and local government) and non-governmental organizations, and make available to masses to comprehend its trend and severity, might open the door of further researches. Secondly, workplace violence requires urgent and special concentration with measures while rape, eve-teasing; and of trafficking in public sphere; murder by husband and husband's family, dowry, and psychological aspects (require psychological counseling and treatment) in domestic sphere. Finally, legal and other initiatives i.e. castigating perpetrators (lifetime imprisonment in special cases) as well as motivation and awareness program are highly encouraged.

VIII.

Conclusion

The overall trend show that some of the violence in family and public sphere are on decrease i.e. acid, fatwa, and suicide etcetera while rape, murder, and dowry related violence are on increase in the same sphere yet. Additionally, women often victimized by different sorts of violence in commute work and workplace but no proper records are maintained. In terms of measures addressing VAW, Bangladesh has enacted various laws, legislation, policies, and sanctioned numerous conventions to punish perpetrators. In the same way, many NGOs and women organizations also work to ensure the rights of women. The matter of exhaustion is that off enders often go unpunished yet as victims do not claim remedy or file any cases due to social stigma. Furthermore, corrupt police officials, less delegation of women in authoritative positions, parental tendency to put their girls to ferocious husband, illegal practices of politics, lack of proper record and documentations, and patriarchal family system kindling it. Sensitization of masses with awareness program, maintenance of proper record, transparency in police departments addressing patriarchy may lead to women's emancipation. Special attention requires in workplace challenging security, and safety in commute.

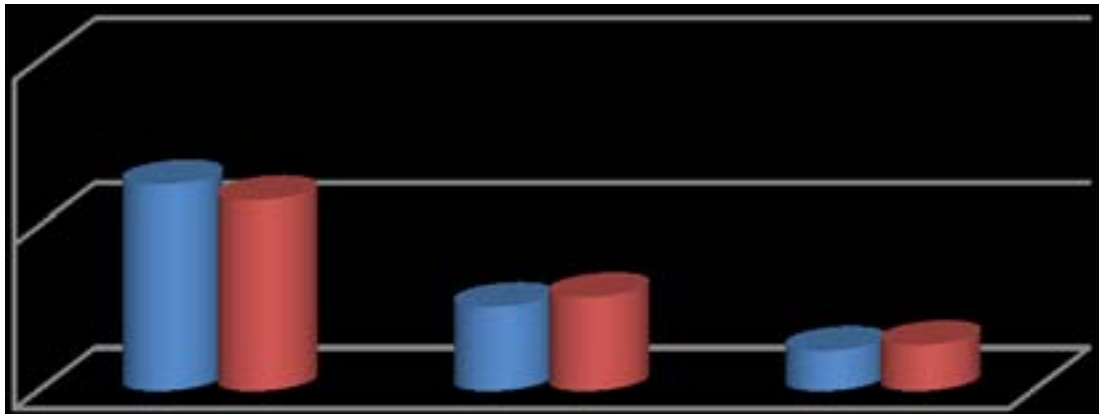

Figure 1:

Figure 2: Figure 1 :

¹© 2016 Global Journals Inc. (US) s

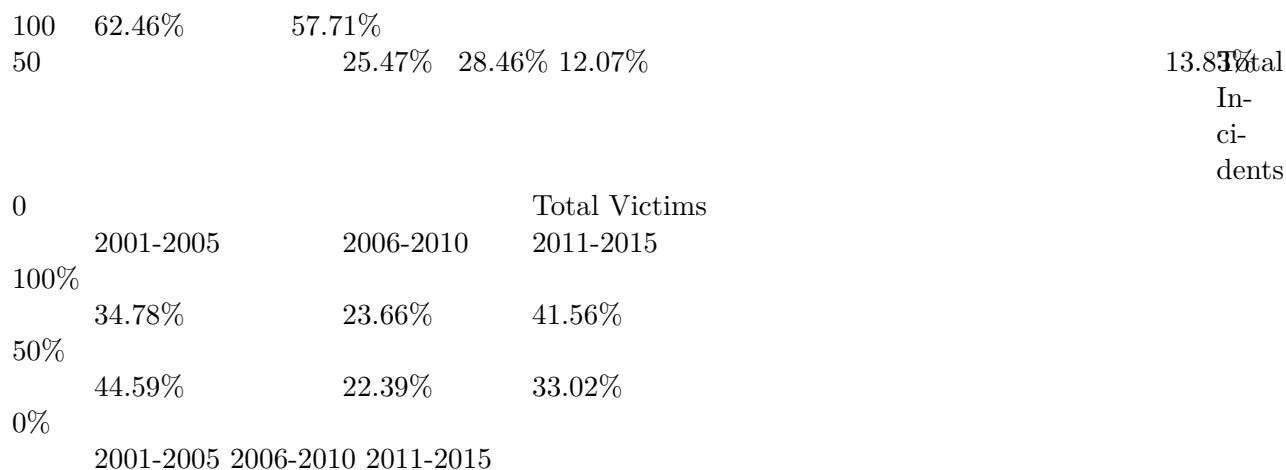

Figure 3: Figure 2 :

One of the respondents stated, "In all cases I am not safe to the police as they rarely come forward to help me and very often avoid feigning not to see me in time of crisis moment".

[Note: Odhikar (2001 to 2015) has documented 77 rape incidents committed by law enforcement agencies from 2001 to 2015 reporting 44.16 from 2011 to 2015, that is 14.29 percent and 18.19 percent higher in comparison to the incidents of 2006 to 2010 and 2001 to 2005 successively. Rape is the second most common form of violence among police (Chowdhuri, 2007). It can be predicted that women are the most vulnerable to Police yet bearing 66.23 percent from grand total law enforcement agency rapes committed by them.]

Figure 4: Percentage of Acid Violence against Women

Children Victim of Rape
Rape Incidents

Figure 5: Percentage of Rape Incidents, and Children Victim of Rape

[Ain o Salish Kendra ()], Ain o Salish Kendra 2011. (Annual Report)

[Ain o Salish Kendra ()], Ain o Salish Kendra 2012. (Annual Report)

[August ()], August. <<http://www.esciencecentral.org/journals/the-impact-of-domestic-violence-on-women-a-case-study-of-ruralbangladesh-2375-4435-1000135.php?aid=75937>> 2016.

[August ()], August. <http://www.bangladeshsociology.org/Domestic%20Violence%20against%20Women%20in%20BangladeshBEJS%209.2%20Final%20_new_.pdf> 2016.

[Acid Statistics ()] Acid Statistics, (Bangladesh) 2016. 1999-2015.

[Documentation Unit Ain o Salish Kendra ()] 'Documentation Unit'. Ain o Salish Kendra 2013.

[Documentation Unit Ain o Salish Kendra ()] 'Documentation Unit'. Ain o Salish Kendra 2014.

[Kendra ()] Documentation Unit 8. Ain o Salish Kendra, Ain, Salish Kendra. 2016. 2007. Bangladesh. (Human Rights in Bangladesh)

[Khatun and Rahman ()] 'Domestic violence against women in Bangladesh: Analysis from a socio-legal perspective'. M T Khatun, K F Rahman. Bangladesh ejournal of Sociology 2012. 9 (2) p. 6.

[Begum (2014)] Gender Equality and Women's Empowerment: Suggested Strategies for the 7th Five Year Plan. General Economics Division: Planning Commission of Government Bangladesh, F S Begum. 2014. Accessed 08 August, 2016.

[Kendra ()] Human Rights in Bangladesh-A Summary Report, Ain, Salish Kendra. 2009. Bangladesh.

[Ain O Salish Kendra ()] Human Rights in Bangladesh-A Summary Report, Ain O Salish Kendra. 2010. Bangladesh.

[Kendra ()] Ain, Salish Kendra. Documentation Unit, 2015.

[Rozario ()] Purity and Communal Boundaries: Women and Social Change in a Bangladesh Village, S Rozario. 2001. Dhaka: The University Press Limited.

[Paul-Majumder and Begum ()] The gender imbalances in the export oriented garment industry in Bangladesh. The World Bank, P Paul-Majumder, A Begum. 2000. Washington, DC. Development Research Group/Poverty Reduction and Economic Management Network

[Hossain ()] 'The Impact of Domestic Violence on Women: A Case Study of Rural Bangladesh'. A Hossain. Social Crimonol 2016. 4 p. 3.

[Siddiqi ()] The sexual harassment of industrial workers: strategies for intervention in the workplace and beyond, D M Siddiqi. 2003. CPD-UNFPA Publication Series No. p. 26.

[Odhikar ()] 'Violence Against Women'. Odhikar. Statistics Unit on Rape 2016. 2001-2016.

[Odhikar ()] 'Violence Against Women'. Odhikar. Statistics Unit on Rape by Law Enforcement Agency 2016. 2001-2016.

[Odhikar ()] 'Violence Against Women'. Odhikar. Statistics Unit on Dowry 2016. 2001-2016.

[Odhikar ()] 'Violence Against Women'. Odhikar. Statistics Unit on Fatwa and Illegal Arbitration 2016. 2001-2016.

[Chowdhuri ()] Violence against women in Bangladesh: situational analysis/ existing interventions, S Chowdhuri. 2007. 2016. 06. (Retrieved in August)

[Al-Amin and Hoque (2015)] 'Violence against Women Workers in the Ready-made Garments Industry in Bangladesh'. M Al-Amin, M M Hoque. <<http://bv-f.org/WV-09/12.%20WV%20Final.9.pdf>> World Vision 2015. 19 August 2016. 09 (01).

[Basu et al. (2005)] Violence against women: a statistical overview, and challenges and gaps in data collection and methodology and approaches for overcoming them, A Basu, I Jaising, L Collective. <<http://www.un.org/womenwatch/daw/egm/vaw-st2005/docs/expert-papers/Farouk.pdf>> 2005. March, 4. 2008.

[Mannan ()] Violence Against Women: Marital Violence in Rural Bangladesh. Dhaka: Centre for Policy Dialogue [CPD-UNFPA Programme on Population and Sustainable Development retrieved in 18 August, M A Mannan. <http://www.cpd.org.bd/pub_attach/unfpa20.pdf> 2002. 2016

[Kelmendi ()] 'Violence against Women: Methodological and Ethical Issues'. K Kelmendi. 10.4236/psych.2013.47080. <<http://dx.doi.org/10.4236/psych.2013.47080>> 559-565 retrieved in 19 August, 2013. 2016. 04.